THE BENDER MYSTERY.

The Salt Lake Herald contains the following additional matter regarding the supposed arrest of the Kansas butcher:

"About two months ago news reached this city that an old man had been captured in Sevier county, in the southern part of the territory. The officers in this city forwarded descriptions of the family to the officers in Sevier county, and received answers that the old man was undoubtedly the veritable Kansas butcher. A photograph was taken of the man and sent to his former neighbors, who pronounced it the picture of the elder Bender. Since then nothing further has been heard from Kansas, but yesterday the accused was brought to this city by Deputy Sheriff J. L. Fouts and A. L. Farnsworth, of Sevier county, and lodged in the city jail. By the time the party reached the city hall the news that old man Bender had arrived was circulated through the city, and crowds docked to see the man who had created such a sensation, and about whom so much had been written. To gratify the multitude the jailer removed the man from the cell in which he had been placed, to the prison hall, and admitted the crowd. The old man may be Bender; he looks villainous enough to be that murderer. He is about five feet eight inches in height, has a muscular frame, broad shoulders and coarse angular build; he is slightly stooped-shouldered and has hollow cheeks; his beard is full, long, grizzled, unkempt, and hangs in twisted locks; his hair is grey, unshorn and uncombed, and hangs in tangled locks about his face and shoulders; he has a quick, grey eye, set deep in the socket, which rolls around with a crazy, leering stare, causing an unpleasant sensation to seize one on whom they are turned. His complexion is fair, but his face and hands are bronzed with exposure. When sitting, his hands fall loosely forward, and the hand is best toward him, and the hand-dog look which he bears makes him a picture of something but pleasant to contemplate. He is a German of the lowest class, and gives evidence of being most depraved. Yesterday afternoon at the jail several Germans and speakers of various languages closely questioned him, but he was generally unresponsive. Sometimes he would answer in good German, but at other times he would talk for minutes in a language or gibberish unknown to all present. In answer to questions in German, he said he was a native of Wurtemberg, but could not tell the country where he was fourteen years of age, and is now fifty-four years old. He said his name was Johannes Koeb, which he wrote is a plain hand, as also several other words. He stated that he came to this country on the railroad from New York, his clothes were ragged, and he wore on his feet a pair of old boot legs, fastened together with strings. He was charged with being the Kansas butcher, when he held up his hands and said in broken English that Bender's little fingers were not off his hands; he said he was ragged, and he wore on his feet a pair of old boot legs, fastened together with strings. During the whole afternoon he was excited and very nervous; his hands trembled, and he would frequently start, but immediately regain his self-possession. Some who saw him expressed the thought that if he were Bender he was playing his game with a skill worthy of that great criminal. Bender, if he be that villain, was arrested about two months ago, seven miles south of Richfield, Sevier county. He had come out of the mountains, and was traveling westward. When Fouts and his partner were on the trail, he was ragged, and he wore on his feet a pair of old boot legs, fastened together with strings. STOCK, FIELD AND FARM.

St. Louis Democrat: The hogs now arriving in the various markets of the country are of a very light weight—drawn upon from the Kansas market, depleting the packer's stock of 1874, and prospects now are that much higher figures will prevail than winter market. The Iowa State Register, a paper printed in the heart of an extensive hog producing region, says there is sure to be a short hog crop next fall, and argues farmers to save every pig, and to sell no more of their half grown shoats, for the prices they will bring when well fattened next winter will doubly pay for holding them over.

Carroll Journal: Another heavy shipment of cattle—10 day Mr. Alexander purchased a $30,000 shipment of fat cattle from the following ranchmen and owners: Quenberry, 40 head; Wm. Stanley, 40 head; Rodgers & Wilson, 100 head; W. C. Squire, 34 head; H. E. Cox, 40 head; and delivered next week, will be the best cattle ever shipped from the country. Jack, Thomas, the popular auctioneer, has kindly furnished us with the following prices of stock which he sold for the Kansas estate last week: One yearling steer, sold for $27.50; yearlings from $15 to $18; calves from $8 to $10; cows and heifers, from $10 to $15; yearlings from $10 to $15; a lot of hogs brought from $4.25 to $5.00 per 100, and other property in proportion.
